"The family of Napier is said to be descended from the ancient Thanes of Lennox King of Scots being engaged in war, and having convocated his subjects to battle, the Earl of Lennox was called on, among others, to send such forces as he could collect to the King's assistance, which be accordingly did, keeping his eldest son with him at home, but putting his men under the command of his two younger sons. The battle went hard with the Scots, who were not only forced to lose ground, but were actually running away when Donald snatched his father's standard from the bearer, charged the enemy with the Lennox men, changed the fortune of the day and obtained the victory. Fife as a reward for his services."

Slightly above the middle size, his figure, though square, was handsome and commanding, the chest broad and open, the bones and fra . ework large, the joints well knit together. His neck was long and finely monlded. The head, unusually large, gave space for a broad and noble brow. The hair, thick, jet black, and slightly curling, fell down over his ears; the eye brows were arched and joined. The countenance thin but ruddy. His large eyes, intensely black and piercing, received additional lustre from their long dark eyclashes. The nose was high and slightly aquiline, but fine, and at the end attenuated. The teeth were far apart. A long black bushy beard, reaching to the breast, added manliness and presence. His expression was pensive and contemplative. The face beamed with intelligence, though something of the sensuous also might be there discern-TEW CROP TURNIP SEED -Early ed. The skin of his body was clear and soft; wards the navel.
